

Science Matters to North Dakota

Research Universities

Learn about the work being done at some of the major research universities in North Dakota:

North Dakota State University
University of North Dakota

Follow the latest on research in North Dakota:

@NDSURF

Federally Funded Research in North Dakota

Federal funding for scientific research reaches every state in the nation. See the impact of funding to organizations in North Dakota from three of the major government research agencies:

National Institutes of Health:

In FY2016, organizations in North Dakota received 36 awards from NIH, across all of its institutes, totaling $22,471,682.

National Science Foundation:

In FY2016, organizations in North Dakota received 47 awards from NSF, across all of its programs, totaling $21,064,000.

Department of Energy Office of Science:

In 2015, educational organizations in North Dakota benefitted research awards from the DOE office of Science worth $150,000.

Companies Created from Research in North Dakota

The Science Coalition's Sparking Economic Growth reports identify nearly 200 companies created as a result of federally funded university research across the country. These companies are bringing transformative innovations in energy, medicine, defense and technology to the market; creating new jobs and boosting local economies; and succeeding at rates far greater than most new businesses in the United States.

Learn about more companies created from federally funded research here.

SCIENCE
MATTERS